

IOSH Managing Safely Renewal (1 Day Course)

(Institute of Occupational Safety and Health)

This one-day IOSH course is aimed specifically at those people who have passed the Managing Safely Certificate before, either by sitting the 3, 4 or 5 Day course and passed the test and project work. The Certificate must be renewed no later than every 3 years by sitting on the IOSH Managing Safely Renewal Course.

Training Objectives

To update and renew the knowledge and issues discussed in the IOSH Managing Safely course. The course is delivered through presentation, videos and exercises.

Who Should Attend?

Delegates who have already successfully obtained the Managing Safely Certificate in the last 3 years.

Course Content

- Review of the knowledge gained in the original course
- Refreshing that knowledge
- Building on what you already know
- Putting current managing safely into practice
- Applying the Management System

IOSH Certificate

At the conclusion of the course delegates will undertake a short multiple assessment of 20 questions; the delegate must score at least 20 out of 32 (there may be more than one option per question that is correct). In the unlikely event that you fail the test, you will be offered the chance to retake the test on the day. The course tutor will mark all papers; IOSH will also request a sample of papers to review.

The delegates will not be required to do a post-course project, which was required in the original Managing Safely course. Delegates who have been successful will be provided with an IOSH certificate to renew their IOSH Managing Safely on the day. All Certificates are officially numbered and signed by IOSH.
